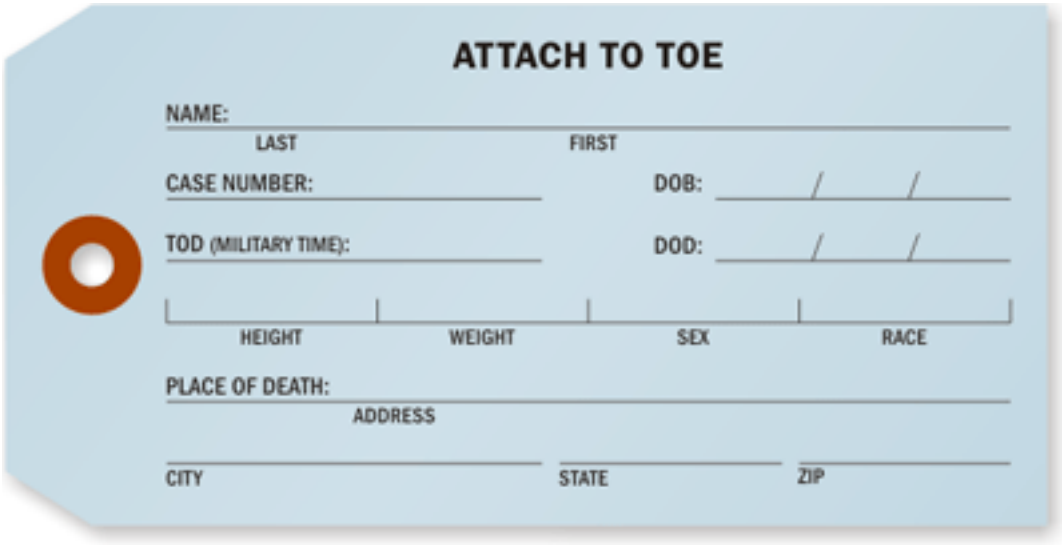
Appointment On Sunset

Tim Powers



Breuer died in his Dodge Dart when he crashed in to the back of a cement truck on Sunset Boulevard in 1964. He is conjured up to the present to relive and alter his actions because they are dice still tumbling. Breuer has been offered a dubious deal. But really, who can you trust when your dead?

Each copy has a numbered morgue toe-tag imbedded in the front board which has been titled and signed by the author
